METHOD AND STRUCTURE FOR MONITORING MOVING OBJECTS

ABSTRACT

A method and structure for monitoring continual queries over moving objects, including identifying a query region in a digital format. Each query region is strictly covered by at least one shingle such that each query region is completely covered by the at least one shingle and no section of any of the at least one shingle falls outside the query region.